The Importance Of Encouraging Western Settlers

The many advantages that would accrue to Canada from the settlement of the vast unoccupied areas of fertile agricultural lands in the West are fairly well recognized by all people, yet the work of peopling these vacant lands languishes and proceeds almost at a snail's pace.

There is hardly a Canadian problem today, the solution of which, wholly or largely, is not to be found in a large increase in the population of the country.

Is it the huge national debt created by the war and the consequent heavy burden of taxation? The solution is not so much in decreased expenditures or newer and additional means of revenue, but in a larger number of people to produce new wealth and to carry a share of the national load, thereby reducing the burden all round.

Is it the problem of making the National Railway pay? The solution is not to be found in higher rates for passengers and freight, which would operate to further decrease traffic, nor solely in economies in management and operation, to which there is a limit if efficient service is not to be destroyed, but through increased population and increased production creating greater traffic to keep the railways profitably busy.

Is it a steady output for our factories and uninterrupted employment for Canada's artisans? The solution is more people in Canada requiring the output of our factories.

Older countries, already blessed with fairly large populations, can well depend upon the natural increase of their people. But not so a young country like Canada, an empire in itself covering half a continent and possessing untold wealth in untouched natural resources. Canada now requires, and for many years to come will require, just what the United States required throughout the Nineteenth century, and that is a large and steady stream of immigrants. The United States, with its more than one hundred million people, can now afford to check the stream, but Canada needs to encourage it.

In the ten or fifteen years before the war, immigration poured into Canada at a rate never experienced prior to that time. The mere handful of people in the West doubled, trebled, quadrupled; unorganized territories became flourishing provinces; hamlets grew into towns, towns were transformed into thriving cities. Why? Because the incoming settlers brought money and goods with them, settled on vacant lands and began to produce. As they produced new wealth from the soil, the demand for the factory products of the East grew by leaps and bounds. Factories which had remained at a standstill in volume of production year after year, or grew so slowly that it was almost imperceptible, suddenly found it necessary to build a new storey, an addition, or a new building altogether in order to meet the demand. Labor was at a premium and unemployment practically unknown. The railways were congested with more traffic than they could handle. More railways had to be built, and thus more employment was created. The mines were busy and so was the lumber industry. It was all directly traceable to the immigration and the enormous resultant increase in agricultural production.

With so recent an object lesson before the country it is amazing to find a very large number of people opposing immigration to Canada now when, in order to carry the burdens imposed on the Dominion by reason of the war, the need for more people and largely increased production is so evident. Restrictions have been placed on immigration to Canada which were undreamed of a few years ago, and are of such a character that, as one speaker at a recent public meeting said, had they been in force at the time our parents and grand-parents immigrated to this country, probably one-half of the people now here would not be here. Stringent as present restrictions are, there is persistent demand in some quarters that they be made even more stringent, while some advocate absolute prohibition of immigration.

Possibly the immigration laws of both Canada and the United States were too lax in the past in one respect in that the bars were not kept up against the admission of the diseased, the mentally and morally deficient, and the criminal class. All such should be rightly excluded. But lack of money should not be made a deterrent to anybody who is physically fit, morally sound, and mentally efficient, capable and willing to work. In another respect, too, Canada was at fault in the past in its treatment of new comers. It is not sufficient to induce people to come to assist in the development of the country and on their arrival to leave them to shift for themselves, which so often led to failure and shipwreck of their lives through ignorance of the conditions and customs of the land of their adoption. A recent little "Manual of Citizenship" issued by the Department of Immigration and Colonization for the guidance of new arrivals is, therefore, an encouraging innovation. In fact, the change in name from Department of Immigration to "Immigration and Colonization" is in itself significant as an indication of a new and better policy. It is important, however, that the work of immigration should not be stopped nor checked by too rigid laws and regulations; the contrary; increased efforts should be put forth to secure new settlers of the right type.

England Wants More Hens.

England needs 8,500,000 more hens in order to get back to the estimated consumption for 1913 of 120 eggs per person, asserts Edward Brown, secretary of the National Poultry Council. Mr. Brown says that in the United States and Canada it is stated the average consumption is nearly 200 eggs per unit annually. Having his estimates on the recent census figures for Great Britain, he computes that each person in England last year ate 92 eggs.

Persistence of British Post.

An instance of British postal delay but an equal testimonial to its persistence, was the delivery at Prince Albert to J. Harris, an Imperial veteran, of a packet of cigarettes mailed him while he was engaged in the South African War, from England in 1903. The package indicates that during his 18 years rambling it has been to India, New Zealand, and nearly all over the globe.

More Acres Seeded To Rye

Estimated That Crop of 1922 Will be Large.

It is estimated, that Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan are this year seeding about 850,000 acres to fall-planted rye, as compared with 350,000 acres last year, an increase of about 500,000 acres, or about 185 per cent. It is further calculated that, given an average yield per acre, the rye crop of 1922 in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan will give the farmers of these districts three or four million dollars more than they will receive this year.

THE ORIGIN OF GALL STONES

They are simply dried bile made up of Crystalline constituents of that fluid. Very common is this disease among merchants, clerical men, shop girls and those of sedentary habits. Prevention consists in maintaining correct action of the liver and bowels, and this is speedily accomplished by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No person using Dr. Hamilton's Pills will be subject to bilious fits. Sound digestion, good appetite, a clear color will evidence the health giving properties of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are safe and best for general family use. When a laxative is needed, when you feel out of sorts, that's the time to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c all dealers or The Catarthorizon Co., Montreal.

Wheat Yield in Saskatchewan.

The wheat yield of Saskatchewan is estimated for the present year to be 145,682,000 bushels; oats, 156,120,000 bushels; barley, 13,500,000; flax, 4,500,000 bushels; and rye, 1,052,000 bushels.

MILD EPIDEMIC

It is due to impurities in the water, causes cramps, diarrhoea, headache. Those who take twenty drops of Nerviline in sweetened water usually get quick relief. It is really wonderful how good old Nerviline fixes up a sour upset stomach, how it stops hiccoughs, how quickly it puts a stop to those nasty attacks of gas. Every home should keep a bottle or two of trusty old Nerviline on hand. 35 cents every where.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE THE REMEDY FOR KIDNEY ILLS.

Principal of Saskatchewan Schools Tells Out of His Own Experience What to do When the Kidneys are Diseased.

Webb, Sask. — (Special). — That there is one sovereign remedy for kidney disease and that remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills is the outspoken opinion of Mr. George Hutchings, principal of the public schools here. "I suffered for two years from diseased kidneys," Principal Hutchings states. "I was advised about a year ago to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have helped me more than any remedy I have ever tried. I find that my health has been greatly improved. "I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney disease. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They help the kidneys to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. The result is new health and energy all over the body. Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sixty Years In One Regiment

Captain Swift Joined Queen's Own Rifles In 1861.

Captain Charles Swift, leader of the bugle band of the Queen's Own Toronto Rifles of Canada, has the longest service of any military man in Canada—sixty years in the one regiment. The Militia Department has just marked this service by promoting him to an honorary Captaincy in the regiment. It was as a triangle player that Captain Swift joined the Queen's Own Regiment at Ridgeway in 1861, and led the band on the trip to the coronation of King Edward. Leading musicians from all parts of the world have congratulated Capt. Swift on the wonderful band he leads.

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not scar the skin or burn the flesh.

"There was a strange man at the door, sir," announced the new servant from Boston. "What does he want?" asked the master of the house, impatiently. "Begging your pardon, sir," replied the servant, a shade of disapproval manifest in his voice, "he wants a bath, but what he is asking for is something to eat."

A whale's throat is so small that you could choke him with your fist, and he feeds on the smallest things in the sea.

Muscular Rheumatism Subdued.—When one is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism he cannot do better than to have the region rubbed with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

Hail Insurance Claims.
Directors of the Municipal Hail Insurance Association have fixed the rate of premium to be paid by farmers for the current year at twenty-five cents an acre on the net seeded acreage. Based on all claims received this levy practically means a five per cent rate. Claims number—$1,668,491.

Proves Irrigation Is a Success

Man in Third Season Owns Farm and Equipment.

Proof of success in the irrigated section in Alberta is exemplified in a farmer named Williamson. After working as a hired man he rented an engine and ploughed outfit on an acreage basis and with the proceeds of one seasons ploughing purchased an irrigated farm of eighty acres and broke it. In the fall he bought a threshing machine and paid for it through the proceeds of the season's threshing operations. This is his third season's farming and he owns a farm, threshing and ploughing outfit and tractor, all fully paid for.

GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD SPIRITS

Depend Upon the Condition of the Blood—Keep It Rich, Red and Pure.

When a doctor tells you that you are anemic, he simply means, in plain English, that your blood is weak and watery. But this condition is one that may easily pass into a hopeless decline if prompt steps are not taken to enrich the blood. Poor blood, weak, watery blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, poor digestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous, irritability and many other troubles. To poor blood is due the pimples and blotches, the muddy complexion that disfigures so many faces. To have good health, a good complexion and a cheerful manner, the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. This is easily done through the use of a blood enriching tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to help enrich the blood which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing with it health, strength and new activity. That is why people who occasionally use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always feel bright, active and strong.

Mrs. J. E. Cook, Simcoe, Ont., gives strong testimony to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when the blood is in an anemic condition, she says: "I have been a sufferer for some years from a run down condition of the system. I suffered from pains in the back, twitching of the nerves and muscles, my appetite was poor. I had indigestion and would not dream of eating. My hands and feet were always cold, and though I was constantly doctoring, the medicine I took did not help me. I had practically given up hope of good health, until a friend from Hamilton came to visit me, and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It took some time, but finally I consented to try them. I have reason to be grateful that I did, for after using seven boxes I felt like a new person. I had gained in weight, have a better color, and my work is now a pleasure. For this condition my thanks are due Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I cannot praise them too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several of the general doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I was so relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockdale Ave., Toronto.

Those who are troubled as Mrs. Goodman was should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. These letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Note and Comment

The Chief Fire Guardian of Alberta sends out a warning about the unusual conditions existing with respect to the fire hazard in this Province.

Owing to the number of dry seasons, in many parts of the province, there is little or no moisture in the soil, and in the sections where there is vegetable mould over the clay, such soil is so dry at the present time that fire will smoulder and consume the vegetable matter, with the result that as soon as vegetation is sufficiently dry it will be ignited by the fire burning in the soil and unless extinguished will burn over unlimited areas.

In many sections the stubble is already inflammable and grain has been destroyed, also buildings.

It is important that every possible precaution should be taken to prevent the spread of fires kindled in the open, and no match, cigar, or cigarette stub should be thrown away until completely extinguished.

Tuesday, December 6th, is the date set for the next Dominion election. The politicians will have plenty of time in which to work off their excess steam, but a week would have been plenty long enough for the most of us to make up our minds as how to vote. So why prolong the agony for those extra eight or nine more weeks until near Christmas?

A headline in a daily paper reads—"Man Dies When Bottle Bursts." We've seen strong men break down and cry in similar circumstances, but this is the worst yet.

Wicked men swear when they are in that humor; good men control their tongues and whip the children.

It is remarked that the number of deaths of celebrated men this year has been exceptionally low. This suggests to us also that not a single birth of any famous person has been recorded during the past twelve months.

The only known flock of snow geese in existence, containing more than 5,000, weighing an average of eight pounds each, arrived recently at Cape Tourmente, Quebec, on its annual southern migration to the warmer country. Each year the birds make this a stopping-off place to and from the way on the Labrador coast, and have been known to do so for more than forty years. The flock has been closely protected and this year moving pictures were taken of them by the Dominion parks service branch.

The minister was loud in his praise of the fat and juicy bird his colored host served for dinner, and finally he asked, "Where did you get such a fine goose as that?"

"Pahson," replied his host, "when you preach a good sermon ah damn ax you what you got it. Ah hopes you'll have the same consideration fo me."

Harris finished his meal with little relish. His daughter was very, very much to him, and an open rupture with her was among the last things to be imagined. Still, she must learn that the liberty of speech he allowed her did not imply complete liberty of action. His wife, too, had behaved most incredibly. After all, perhaps he had been hasty with Jim. No doubt he would meet the boy in Plainville or somewhere in the district before long, and he would then have a frank talk with him. And he would say nothing more of the incident to his wife. He was beginning to feel almost amiable again when recollection of Beulah, and the regard which she was evidently cultivating toward Travers, engulfed his returning spirits like a cold douche. It must not come to that, whatever happened.

"You better get over to Grant's, Alan, if you're going," he said as he left the table. "I've some shears to get back."

An hour later Allan returned, accompanied by George Grant, and operations in the field were resumed. Father and son were both anxious to make up for lost time, and they worked that night long after their usual hour for quitting. Just as the sun was setting George Grant left a cask tank of water at the end of the field and started for home. As he passed the buildings he saw Beulah in the garden, and leaned over the fence for a short chat with her. The girl was thankful the gathering dusk hid the colour of her cheeks. George continued on his way, but still the steady panting of the engine, louder now, it

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills—the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont. writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

seemed, than during the day, came pulsing down on the calm night air. The long twilight dragged on, the light faded out of the east and south, and at last shone like the spread of a crimson fan only in the north-west. It was quite dark when the two men first entered the dusty, came in at the close of their long day's labour.

The table was set for two. "We have had our supper," Mary explained. "We thought we wouldn't wait any longer."

"That's all right," said Harris, trying to be genial. But he found it harder than he had supposed. He was very tired, and somewhat embarrassed following the unpleasantness at noon. He had no thought of apologizing, either to wife or daughter; on the contrary, he intended to make it quite clear to them that they had been at fault in the matter, but he would take his time about reopening the subject.

By waiting a day or two before reproving them he would show that he was acting in a judicial spirit, and without any influence of temper. Still, it was provoking that there should be nothing to talk about. When supper was finished Allan went to the stables to give final attention to the horses—a duty that had always fallen to Jim—and Harris, after a few minutes' rest in his chair, began to remove his boots.

"The cows are not milked, John," said his wife. She tried to speak in a matter-of-fact way, but the tremor in her voice betrayed the import of the simple statement.

Harris paused with a boot half unlaced. While his recollection of Beulah's defiance was clear enough, it had not occurred to him that the girl actually would stand by her guns. He had told her that she would milk the cows tonight as usual, and he had assumed, as a matter of course, that she would do so. He was not accustomed to being disobeyed.

"Where's Beulah?" he demanded. "I guess she's in her room."

Harris laced up his boot. Then he started upstairs.

"Don't be too hard on her, John," urged his wife, with a little catch in her voice.

"I won't be too hard on anybody," he replied curtly. "It's a strange thing you wouldn't see that she did as she was told. I suppose I have to plug away in the field until dark, and then come in and do another half day's work because my women folk are too lazy or stubborn to do it themselves."

If this outburst was intended to crush Mary Harris it had a very different effect. She seemed to straighten up under the attack; the color came back to her cheeks, and her eyes were bright and defiant.

"John Harris," she said. "You know better than to say that your women folk are either lazy or stubborn, but there's a point where imposition, even the imposition of a husband, has to stop, and you've reached that point. You don't have to stay in the field until dark. There's another day coming, and the ploughing'll keep. It isn't like the harvest. It was just your own contrariness that kept you there. You fired the best man you ever had to-day, in a fit of temper, and now you're trying to take it out on us."

Harris looked at her for a moment, then, without speaking, he continued up the stairs. "The difficulties of his position were increasing; it was something new to be assailed from the bosom of his own family. He felt that he was being very unfairly used, but he had no intention of shrinking from his duty as a husband and father, even if its discharge should bring pain to all of them."

He found Beulah in her room, ostensibly reading.

"Why are the cows not milked?" he demanded.

"I thought I made it clear to you at noon that they wouldn't be milked by me," she answered, "and there didn't seem to be anybody else hankering for the job."

"Beulah," he said, trying to speak calmly, "don't you think this nonsense has gone far enough?"

"Too far," she agreed. "But you started it—let's see you stop it."

"Beulah," he said, with rising anger, "I won't allow you to talk to me like that. Remember I'm your father, and you've a right to do as you're told. Haven't I given you everything—given you a home, and all that, and are you going to defy me in my own house?"

"I don't want to defy you," she answered, "but if you're going to let your temper run away with you, you can put on the brass yourself. And as for all you've done for me—maybe I'm ungrateful, but it doesn't look half so big from my side of the fence."

"Well, what more do you want?" he demanded.

"For one thing, I wouldn't mind having a father."

"What do you mean? Ain't I your father?"

"No!" she cried. "No! No! There's no father here. You're just the boss—the boss on the farm. You board with mother and me. We see you at meal-times. We wouldn't see you then if you didn't have to make use of us in that way. If you have a spare hour you go to town. You're always so busy, busy, with your little things, that you have no time for big things."

"I didn't know it was an offence to be busy," he answered. "It's work that makes money, and I notice you can spend your share. You're never so haughty about me workin' when you want ten-dollar bill for somethin'. Work may be a disgrace all right from your point of view, but money isn't, and in this country you don't get much of one without the other."

"Now, Dad," she protested. "You're taking me up wrong. I don't think work is a disgrace, and I'm willing to work as hard as anyone, but I do think it's a shame that you should be thinking only of work, work, work, when you don't need to. I'd like to see you think about living instead of working. And we're not living—not really living, you know—we're just existing. Just making little twenty-four hour cycles that don't get us anywhere, except older."

"We see what I mean? We're living all in the flesh, like an animal. When you feed the horses and put them under shelter you can't do anything more for them. But when you feed and shelter your daughter you have only half provided for her, and it's the other half, the starving half, that refuses to starve any longer."

"I'm not kickin' on religion, if that's what you mean," Beulah, he said. "You get going to church as often as you like, and—"

"Oh, it's not religion," she protested. "At least, it's not just going to church, and things like that, although I guess it is a more real religion, if we just understand. What are we here for, anyway? Come now, you're a man of sense and experience, and you must have settled that question in your own mind long ago. What's the answer?"

"Well, I'm here just now to tell you those cows are to be milked before it's dark."

"Yes, dodge it! You've dodged that question as long as you don't face it. But there must be an answer somewhere, or there wouldn't be the question. There's Riles, now; he doesn't know the answer to a question. He takes it for granted we're here to grab money. And then, there's Grants. They know there is such a question, and they're sure that to some extent they've answered it. You know, I like them, but I never go out of their house that I don't feel out of place. I feel like a question mark."

"Nothing about the weather, or the neighbors, or the crops. He asked me what I thought of the Venezuelan treaty. Of course I'd never heard of such a thing, but I said I hoped it would be for the best, or something like that, but I was ashamed—so ashamed he might have seen it in the daily. You see, they're living—and we're existing."

If Beulah hoped by such argument to persuade her father or even to induce him to do something, she was disappointed. Harris listened to her patiently enough at first, but the conviction dawned upon him that she had been reading some silly nonsense that had temporarily distorted her young mind. Such foolishness, if allowed to take root, might have disastrous results. His daughter must learn to centre her mind on her work, and not be led away by whimsical notions that had no place in a busy life.

"You're talking a good deal of nonsense, Beulah," he said. "When you get older these questions won't worry you. In the meantime, your duty is to do as you're told. Right now that means milk the cows. I'll give you five minutes to get started."

Harris went to his room. A little later Beulah, with a light cloak about her shoulders and a suitcase in her hand, slipped quietly down the front stairs and out into the night.

CHAPTER XI Crumbling Castles.

At the foot of the garden Beulah passed irresolutely the suitcase swinging in her hand. She had made no plans for the decisive step events of the day had forced upon her, but the step itself she felt to be inevitable. She was alone in love with Jim Travers; she had turned the whole question over in her mind that afternoon, weighing it with judicial impartiality, appraising all manner of situations to try out her own emotions, and she had come to the conclusion that Travers was merely an incident in her life; a somewhat inspiring incident, perhaps, but an incident none the less. The real thing—the vital matter which demanded more exceptional protection—was the narrow and ever narrowing horizon of her father, a horizon bounded only by material gain. Against this narrowing horizon Beulah had been struggling with its dumb, insistent stretchings forth to the infinite, rebelled. It was not a matter of filial duty; it was not a matter of love; to her it was a matter of existence. She saw her ideals dimly enough at best, and she would burst every cord of affection and convention rather than allow them to be submerged in the grey, surrounding muck of materialism.

Says Her Recovery Is Almost Like A Miracle

From Helpless Invalid to Complete Restoration of Health, Strength, and Happiness Is Wonderful Change Mrs. Root Experienced in Three Weeks—Statement One of Most Remarkable On Record.

MRS. JENNIE ROOT

"Just a week before I started taking Tanlac I was down in bed so crippled up with rheumatism I could not move without help. My son had taken Tanlac, and it had done him a world of good, so one day he brought home a bottle and said, 'Mother I want you to take this.' When I had finished that bottle, I felt like a different woman, and by the time I had finished my second bottle, I was out in the garden hoeing."

"Tanalac has simply done wonders for me; it almost seems like a miracle." This is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Jennie Root, residing at 1409 Bond St., Portland, Oregon, and is only one of tens of thousands from well-known men and women who are daily testifying to the powers of Tanlac.

Continuing her wonderful statement, Mrs. Root said, "For years I suffered terribly with rheumatism and would often be down in bed for days at a time. In the last five years there was not a time that I didn't feel those rheumatic pains all through my body. About two months ago I got very much worse and my arms and legs were so bad I was almost helpless and couldn't even hold a pen to sign my name. I was so weak I could not do any housework. I couldn't even sleep, and had no rest day or night. Even to walk a few steps would tire me out completely. When I tried to walk I would stagger, and when I did walk a little way and sat down I could not get up without some one helping me. I had no appetite and hardly ate enough to keep me alive. I could not stoop over far enough to get my shoes on."

"I never knew what a night's sleep was, and would lie awake for hours. At times I would get very cold, and would have to get up and sit by the fire all huddled up, and my daughters would put hot water bottles all around me. I was treated by four doctors, and took all kinds of medicine. Nothing ever did me any good. I am just like a different person now. All those terrible aches and pains have left me, and only the other day I was able to walk up four flights of stairs in an office building when the elevator was out of order. "My appetite is just splendid now, and just today for the first time in years, I felt so hungry that I had to go and eat a piece of pie between meals. In fact, I can't remember the time that I have felt as well as I do now. I have not only regained my health and strength, but I have gained fourteen pounds in weight. To tell you the truth, I don't intend to change the benefit I have received from Tanlac for the best ranch in Oregon, and I will praise it as long as I live."

Tanalac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Britain and France To Pay Largest Proportion Of Expenses Of League

Geneva.—Great Britain and France must pay the largest proportion of the expenses of operating the League of Nations, it was found when the committee charged with determining the share each country should pay reported to the assembly of the league. Each must pay 9.26 per cent., while China, India, Italy and Japan were placed in the second category and were called upon to pay 6.65 per cent. In the third category were placed Argentina, Spain, Brazil, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, whose individual shares were fixed at 3.58 per cent. The scale was graduated downward to .21 per cent., which will be paid by Panama, Paraguay, Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras and Liberia.

Consideration of an amendment to article 18 of the covenant of the League of Nations, which would exempt technical treaties from registration with the secretariat of the League of Nations, was postponed by the assembly of the league here.

The purpose of the change in the covenant was to make article 18 effective in breaking up secret treaties through registration.

A. J. Balfour, of Great Britain, declared it was absurd to expect nations that signed a treaty of defense which they were ready to register and make public, to be required at the same time to disclose the means, military or otherwise, by which they contemplated making their defense.

Memorial Designs For Battlefield

Canadian Commission Has Received Report From Competitors.

Ottawa.—The Canadian battlefields memorial commission has received a report of the professional assessors upon the competitive designs submitted for eight monuments to be erected on the battlefields in France and Belgium. The competition has been in progress during the past year, and has been participated in by leading architects, sculptors and artists generally. The decision reached by the commission will be communicated to the Governor-General-in-Council, after which the name of the successful sculptor will be announced.

In the first stage of the competition, 160 sets of designs were submitted, and of these 17 were selected for the second stage. The models have all been thoroughly examined by the commissioners.

Instrumental Music And Christian Unity

(By O. E. Payne, Hanna, Alta.)

The dominant issue in Christendom today is the unity of believers. All important denominations, except the Roman Catholics, and nearly all the minor ones, are actively participating in conferences looking to that goal. The discovery of a true and acceptable platform which will serve as a basis is one of chief quests, while the removal of any obstacles to such unity is of no less concern. Questions of creed, ordination, form of organization and government, and the title to property are important factors, but in the minds of both enthusiasts and fundamentalists, the question of baptism looms above them all.

There is another issue, not less grave, to which the attention of only the few has as yet been drawn. Omitting the Latin Church, there are almost as many Christians who reject instrumental music as sinful as there are who employ it and regard it as spiritual. Those who oppose it do so from principle. They will not employ it, will not worship or have fellowship with those who do, and they base their scruples upon the Scriptures.

Such concede that instrumental music was authorized in the Old Testament, but not in the New, and insist that we are to be guided alone by the latter. They hold that while there is no affirmative prohibition of such music in the Christian Scriptures, they allege that they are our sole and sufficient guide, and that their supposed silence amounts to a prohibition.

As matters have stood, the thoughtful few have realized that this situation constitutes an impasse that must shortly block all progress toward unity, and that the parties who forego instrumental music constitute two or three hundred millions, the largest of the dozen or so bodies which so hold being the Greek Church, to which most Slavs belong, which church is actively laboring for unity.

Many have assayed to point to a way of escape, but it must be admitted that they have left the riddle unsolved. The King James version and the revision which sheds no new light on the former as regards this question, have seemed to confirm the widely accepted infirmity, that the New Testament is silent as to instrumental music, and that such music is an innovation.

But all that is changed by the appearance of a remarkable book which has just been issued from the pen of O. E. Payne, of Hanna, Alberta, which is being received with equal joy by those who have conscientiously refrained from using such music. The book is entitled, "Instrumental Music Is Scriptural," and in a new masterly way that amazes the best informed of both sides, proceeds to show that the New Testament is not silent upon the question, but that Christians are as distinctly directed to employ instruments in praising God as they are their voices in song. The inspired writers employ two Greek verbs, psallo and psallō, to tell us what manner of music to employ. By the consent of all, the first means to sing. As to psallo, the author quotes definitions from a hundred Greek lexicons covering more than twenty centuries, proving that it means to play an instrument. Every important lexicon is included in the long list. Then, to guard against the possibility of the lexicons erring, about one hundred and fifty examples of the use of the word are gleaned from Greek writers of the centuries before, at the time of and after the period in which the New Testament was being written. About thirty of these excerpts are from contemporaries of the Apostles, in which the context proves to a certainty that the authors used the word to refer to instrumental music.

Having in these and many other ways established the fact that psallo signified the playing of an instrument, and that therefore when, in Greek, Christians are directed to "psallo and psalle," they are told to "sing and play," the author proceeds to prove, that from the first, translators have so understood the words. A century after the New Testament was written the Peshito, the first known translation, which Philip Schaff terms "the queen of versions," because of its accuracy, was from the Greek to the Syriac. Throughout it renders the Greek psallo as meaning play instruments. A Coptic translation in like way is also cited.

WESTERN EDITORS

W. O. Buchanan, M.P. and Editor and Proprietor of the Daily Herald, Lethbridge, Alta.

Four hundred years ago Luther pursued a like course, translating the Greek into "singen und spielen," which in German, means "sing and play." The several revisions of Luther's great translation continue this rendering as do many other German translations, and all the Danish, Swedish, Norwegian and Dutch translations the author was able to find. It is thus shown that the common English versions are exceptional in rendering the two words "sing and make melody," while Rotherham's English and most other modern European translations agree with each other and the lexicons in rendering the verbs to "sing and play."

In thus removing the cause for scruples which many had, and the impasse as regards music toward which the world-wide unity movement was rapidly traveling, the author of this work, which is the outcome of years of research in the libraries of two continents, has earned the thanks of Christendom.

The book is equally adapted to the learned and unlearned, and the author, O. E. Payne, Hanna, Alta., deserves credit for the production of this interesting work.

Australia's Premier Says 20,000 Emigrants All They Could Handle.

London.—A Reuter cable from Melbourne says that Premier W. M. Hughes referring to an interview with the Australian emigration agent cabled from London who is alleged to have recommended the despatch of 100,000 emigrants yearly to Australia from the British Isles said it would be folly to pour such a population into Australia until adequate arrangements have been made for making them wealth producing. Premier Hughes thinks the figure quoted is absurd. In his view, the practical position is that from 12,000 to 20,000 might safely be sent out this year.

No Outsiders In U. S. Merchant Marine

One of Best Pursers Discharged Was A Canadian.

New York.—A few days ago, 200 members of the crew of the steamer George Washington were discharged on the ground that they were not citizens and their places taken by men who could "qualify on that ground." One of the men ousted was W. H. P. Matteson, a Canadian, who was purser on the vessel. Matteson was regarded as being one of the best pursers in the North Atlantic service, but the rule of the United States Merchant Marine is "no outsiders need apply."

"I have been in London under a German raid," said Dr. Chown, "and in the midst of the vicissitudes of the war, but even under those conditions the people seemed to be exhilarated as compared with their present mood."

Flooding Of Steamer Still A Mystery

Hull of Canadian Importer Found to Be Intact.

Victoria, B.C.—Cause of the flooding of the engine room of the steamer Canadian Government Merchant Marine, which disabled the steamer more than six hundred miles off the Oregon coast, while the vessel was en route from Vancouver to Sydney, Australia, still remains a mystery.

The vessel was put into dry-dock at Esquimalt this morning an examination of the vessel's hull found her to be intact and her sea valves in perfect working order.

Many Killed In Train Wreck

Cars Take Fire After Collision In French Tunnel.

Paris.—Seventeen of those injured in the tunnel wreck have died in hospitals, according to Havas Agency, bringing the total number of dead up to 33. Exploration of the 17 burned cars has not yet been possible, and it is feared that they contain additional victims.

Paris.—A rear-end collision of two suburban trains in the half-mile tunnel leading to the St. Lazare railroad station led to terrifying scenes and the death of many persons bound on their homeward journey from Paris. The wrecked cars burst into flames, and the disaster was made all the more terrible by the explosion of a gas reservoir.

Ottawa.—A conference of veterinarians to discuss the best means of improving the health of Canada's livestock, is to be called, at Ottawa for Nov. 15 and 16. Probably no livestock producing country in the whole world has a better record for freedom from disease than has Canada, said Dr. Griesdale, deputy minister of agriculture, a condition undoubtedly largely due to the inspection system carried on by the department's health of animals branch. The work of keeping Canadian stock free from disease and giving it an even finer reputation than it now enjoys is not to be done by individuals or small groups in this work, says Dr. Griesdale, which must be done by a centralized organization for all Canada. Accordingly, serious consideration will be given at the forthcoming conference to the formation of a national veterinary association to work in connection with the department.

Representative veterinarians from every province in the Dominion will be invited to attend the conference. The estimated value of Canadian livestock today is $1,075,362,000, and the department believes that any effort to enhance this great national asset must be to the advantage of the whole country.

New Homestead Map

Owing to the rapidly approaching depletion of available Crown lands situated within a reasonable distance of a railway, attention is now being directed the large extent of unoccupied and uncultivated land held by non-resident owners. As shown by statistics recently compiled in the Department of the Interior, a large part of these lands is available for purchase at reasonable prices.

The 1921 edition of the Southern Alberta Land Map, which is issued by the Department of the Interior, gives in color scheme the location of the uncultivated lands that are offered for sale and also the remaining Crown Lands available for homesteading, whereby the settler can see at a glance all existing opportunities for settlement. The map has also many other features of interest such as Indian and Forest Reserves, Timber Belts, Railway lines, Dominion Parks, Land Districts and Agencies, and all topographical features revised to date.

The Department will supply upon application Lists of unoccupied and uncultivated lands covering any particular district containing the names and addresses of the owners, prices asked for the lands, nature of the soil, and acreage suitable for cultivation. Negotiations may then be carried on with the owner.

A copy of this map may be seen at the News Office, or can be secured free of charge upon application to the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

An airplane crashed near the Manson airdrome from a height of 200 feet and a flying officer and four mechanics were killed. A strong wind was blowing at the time and the machine burst into flames. A sergeant of the air force ran to the blazing machine in an attempt to rescue the men in the wreckage, but the flames drove him back.

The foolish man who built his house on the sand—

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives 'way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal its taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner. Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

And He Got It.

An English schoolmaster promised a crown to any boy who should propound a riddle that he could not answer. After many had tried, a bright youngster said, "Why am I like the Prince of Wales?" Not To Be Caught.

Brown was a testy fellow, and if there was one thing more than another that he hated it was to be caught. As a consequence, he was very suspicious of any deed or word the meaning of which he could not understand. Once when he visited a menagerie he had an interesting chat with one of the keepers, and as he was about to leave the man asked: "By the way, sir, have you seen our black-faced antelope?"

"Ah," thought Brown, "he's trying to make a fool of me. 'No,' he replied stiffly. "May I ask with whom your black-faced aunt eloped?"

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

A Handsome Ermine Wrap

By Marie Belmont.

A sumptuous fur wrap is always a serviceable addition to the fashionable woman's wardrobe. This season there are many appealing creations in styles that are decidedly distinctive. This model is made of ermine. It is elaborated with a rippling cape that swings from the back of the collar. The sleeves are very wide at the cuff. A most striking effect is attained by the use of a black fur collar. This reaches almost to the waistline, decreasing in size as it reaches this point. The black fur is also introduced on the lower edge of the cape, where it accentuates the ripples.

They are a gentle laxative; mild but thorough in action and never fail to banish constipation, colic, colds or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. Concerning them Mrs. J. H. Charest, St. Leon, Que., writes: "My baby cried continually and nothing seemed to help her till I began using Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets soon set her right and now I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
